Executive Summary

The Declaration of Santiago (2023) reflects a unified commitment by Latin American and Caribbean nations to promote ethical, inclusive, and human rights-based development and governance of artificial intelligence (AI) in the region. Recognizing both the opportunities and risks of AI, the declaration emphasizes the need for strategic regulation, regional cooperation, and the integration of local cultural perspectives. Key actions include establishing a regional working group, led by Chile, to lay the groundwork for an intergovernmental AI council, and leveraging UNESCO's ethical guidelines. The declaration calls for inclusive policy-making, capacity-building, investment, and safeguards to address social inequalities, protect vulnerable groups, and ensure responsible AI use. It also highlights the importance of data governance, innovation, and collaboration among governments, private sector, academia, and civil society to maximize AI's benefits while mitigating its risks.
